LIGHT TURNOUT

The June meeting of the Montrose Society of Homebrewers had a light attendance. The meeting was held at Mark Schelling's house and was attended by Carle Hoover, John Bennett, Tim Cox, Me (in that damn blue uniform)...no drinkie for you!, and new member DAVID DREITLEIN!

Everyone, but me shared the good tastes of different microbrews and a couple of homebrews. Mark provided some great eats and I think Carle brought some too. I wasn't there long enough to know what all was discussed. I do remember a discussion about harvesting yeast.

If you know of anyone who would be interested in attending a meeting, be sure to bring 'em along next time. I have talked to about 5 people recently, two of which are in the next paragraph.

The F.N.G.'s

I would like to welcome two new members.

David Dreitlein brewed a lot while in med school. He is an E.R. Doc at Montrose Memorial Hospital and wants to get back into brewing after a short hiatus. He also donated two carboys to me and one to Carle, Thanks doc! Man, he must have brewed a lot of beer at one time.

Nigel Askew recently purchased the Blue Fox Inn...soon to be renamed the Blue Sky Inn. Nigel worked for a microbrewery in Glenwood and has one hell of a homebrew system. If you get a chance, stop by the Blue Fox/Sky and introduce yourself and check it out. This guy is serious about beer! Be prepared for a strong English accent too! O.K. Lad?

I will email everyone with the July meeting date and time. It was suggested we meet on a Sunday and everyone bring 3 different beers to sample.
